

President Ernest Wilkinson Resigns

Federal Spending Cut In New Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy announced a surprise cut in federal spending. He disclosed he had slashed his new budget to $97.9 billion by trimming nuclear weapons production, closing oil refineries and warring on "fat and sugar" everywhere.

THE GOVERNMENT still would be operating in the red, but the deficit would be reduced in half.

In his first state of the union message, President also told Congress that the report he will submit Jan. 21 will call for a billion anti-poverty program to give a chance to millions of Americans now living on "the outskirts of hope."

THE PRESIDENT also denounced a heavy attack in production of atomic explosives called on Russia to do the same. He said there was no need to stockpile more such weapons than were needed because to do so would only be provocative and wasteful. There are tens of thousands of nuclear weapons in the U.S. stockpile.

Revealing his "frugal" 1965 budget in essence, he revealed that it calls for spending $540 million less than the $98.4 billion expected to be spent in the current year and $1 billion less than President Kennedy had proposed last January.

Head Of LDS School System Ends Long, Productive Career

The resignation of Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson as president of the Brigham Young University was announced Thursday by the Board of Trustees in Salt Lake City.

Dr. Wilkinson also announced that he would resign as Chancellor of the Unified Church School System of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Termination of both positions will be made as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made and successors named for the posts, it was reported.

"THIS IS NOT AN EASY step for me to take. I have received tremendous satisfaction from my work at the BYU and also with the Church School System assignment, but new challenges and responsibilities have developed which call for decisions in the near future," Dr. Wilkinson said.

"As to the BYU I am grateful for an understanding Board of Trustees and to a competent and faithful faculty for the full measure of support they have given me. Without the support of the Board we would not have been able to build one of the most functional and beautiful campuses in America. To the faculty goes the honor and credit for training students of strong character and high scholarship, whose services are sought throughout the world."

"I AM EQUALLY PROUD of the advancements made and the competence and spirit of service of the faculties of Ricks College, the Institutes and Seminaries, the L.D.S. Business College, Juarez Academy and over 20 elementary schools in Mexico. My heart will always abide with all of them," Dr. Wilkinson continued.

The dynamic BYU leader is a senior partner in the law firm of Wilkinson, Cragun and Barker in Washington D.C., a firm that he organized in 1940 and in which he has still retained an interest.

Dr. Wilkinson was appointed president of the Brigham Young University in 1950 and became Chancellor of the Unified Church School System in 1953. Under his leadership BYU has become the largest institution of higher learning in the Great Basin and the largest church-related university in the nation.

DURING HIS TENURE, the BYU enrollment has grown more than 200 percent to a present total of 15,398 and more than 80 major permanent buildings have been constructed on the campus.

As Chancellor, he has been administrator of one university, one junior college, 161 institutes of religion at universities and colleges, and 1653 seminaries of religion. Under his guidance enrollment in these institutions has increased from around 35,000 to 129,000.

Universe staff writer, left, interviews a candidate for the Ugly Man Contest. Proceeds from the voting jars on campus will be donated to the Campus Chest Drive. The goal is $3,000 and the annual drive will end Friday.

Campus Chest Drive Donations Accepted Until Friday Deadline

All contest collections for the Campus Chest Drive should be given to the treasurer's office in the Smoot Administration Bldg., Friday by noon.

Intercollegiate Knights will meet the participants of the organizational and housing contest. Winners will be announced at the game Friday, according to Emil Capik, chairman.

THE $3,000 GOAL which has been set for the second consecutive year was met in 1963. The intercollegiate Knights thought not competing in the contest, have pledged $500 to the current drive.

The Arizona Club which annually sponsors a dance, the proceeds of which are donated to the Campus Chest, was the winner of the 1963 drive.

Individual collections will be taken following the forum assembly Thursday and in the collection jars located on campus.

'Wilkinson Era' Named For Expansion Since '50

The years of 1950 through 1965 will be known as the "Wilkinson era" at Brigham Young University, during which there was vast expansion in all areas—enrollment, faculty, campus construction, curriculum and academic excellence.

As the student enrollment boomed to new records every year, Dr. Wilkinson was instrumental in increasing the faculty to more than 710 to handle an additional teaching load. To accommodate the flood of students, he supervised the construction of more than 80 major permanent buildings on campus.

THE DEVELOPMENT of housing under Dr. Wilkinson's administration gave BYU the largest housing operation in the state of Utah, with spaces for more than 5,000 students on campus.

The physical expansion is obvious, but what President Wilkinson considers more important is his influence in raising the academic standards of the university.

DURING HIS administration the academic organization of BYU expanded from five colleges to eleven. He succeeded in adding the College of Nursing, the College of Engineering and Physical Sciences, the General College, College of Family Living, College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences, and the College of Physical Education.

Dr. Wilkinson supervised the change from the quarter system to the semester system in 1960 in the interests of better scholarship. He also added the Honors Program for gifted students, enlarged and tightened the scholarship program, added the doctor's degree program, and generally encouraged the upgrading of scholarship so that BYU is respected academically throughout the nation.

Just Keep Walking

There's a table sitting in the lobby of the Smith Family Living Center. It's not really conspicuous in spite of its sign and the Ugly Man Contest table across from it gets most of the attention.

But this first table has your representatives behind it. See you walking by, but for some reason you don't see them.

If you're not interested in student government, just keep on walking. You'd be wasting their time if you talked to them when you weren't, but are you sure you've never swung at a stomp, never stood in line for a game, never joined a club, never attended an Academic Emphasis Committee's debate, never studied in the Library longer because of new hours?

All of these are a result of your student government. Ever dropped in on your Senate's meetings? No? Ever had an opinion on housing representation, the Health Center, what happens when we get into the Y Center? This is what they're talking about. This is what they want to hear about from you.

"It was really beneficial to me," said President Boyack and added wistfully, "Even if they don't dare walk up and give an opinion, they walk by and see you there. They know, at least, they've got a Senator."

Just keep walking, huh, students?

Daily Universe Sells Near 500 Kennedy Books

It's a steal for $2 and almost 500 students took advantage of the low price to get a classic record of the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963. Bruce L. Olsen, editor of the Daily Universe, Wednesday announced the number of advance orders for "Four Days: The Historical Record of the Death of President Kennedy."

THIS IS particularly gratifying because we only had two days to promote the book, he said. Distribution will be handled through the BYU Bookstore. "Four Days" was compiled by United Press International and American Heritage Magazine with a preface by the noted historian, Bruce Catton. Arrival of the shipment will be announced in the Daily Universe.

A few extra copies are being ordered to accommodate persons who did not get their request to the Daily Universe Tuesday, Mr. Olsen said.

Capacity Crowd Applauds Chamber Music

by Evelyn Gould
Music Critic

Dr. Murray's Office of the Dramatic Arts Department has stated his belief that the university is educating a new generation which will emerge ready to appreciate the finer and demanding arts and therefore will demand a higher quality of productions, both in the realm of the theater and the other arts. THESE BELIEFS were supported when nearly a full house appeared Wednesday night to hear "An Evening of Chamber Music" presented by Ralph Laycock and David Dalton of the BYU Music Dept. and Gladys Gladstone from Salt Lake.

The program included "Sonata in F minor, op. 120 no. 1" for clarinet and piano; "Sonata in E flat major, op. 120 no. 2" for viola and piano both by Brahms; and "Trio in E flat major, K. 498" by Mozart.

This was the twenty-ninth in the 1963-64 series. It was a successful effort on the part of the BYU Music Dept. to make use of faculty talent, to expose the student body to some of the wonderful yet less spectacular music literature.

Even more has been said about fair employment regardless of race, creed or color. Now the large organizations formed in defense of such civil rights are demanding that every place of employment not only hire Negroes, but hire a fair ratio of Negroes.

There have also been demands for the integration of schools, for the integration of public and private; and now the advocates of civil rights are demanding that there be fair ratios of Negroes in the classroom. In many such demands for civil rights the fundamental claim is that Negroes and other members of a minority have right to associate with anyone they choose.

When demonstrators claim for all Negroes the right to enter any store, to own homes in segregated neighborhoods, to hold jobs in integrated businesses, or to be given places in segregated classrooms, they are claiming the right of association with whites.

But when some whites are opposed to this association, the champions of civil rights do not

by Ann Nichols

For three years, Terry Stevens, a BYU Freshman, ate, slept and dated in Korea.

Terry went to Korea in 1960 when her father was assigned to set up a commercial airline there. She attended an American military school with 250 other students.

CULTURAL programs through the Red Cross brought Terry associations with Korean students her age. In these programs they exchanged dinners, then spent the evening shopping sides.

Terry noticed differences in the Korean homes—things she had not known in America. To eat dinner, one must sit on the floor; the tables are low. Terry and her family also learned to eat with chopsticks. "It takes too long to get anything down," she said.

Frank Sinatra, second from right, gets into a brawl with guards in "The Devil at 4 o'clock" also starring Spencer Tracy. Sinatra portrays a convict in the Columbia movie about a missionary and a group of convicts on an island together.

Film Features Tracy, Sinatra; Now Seen At Campus Movie

This week Film Favorites will feature "The Devil at 4 O'Clock," starring Spencer Tracy, Frank Sinatra, Kerwin Mathews, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Greville Aulan, Alexander Scourby, Barbara Luns, Cathy Laves, Bernie Hamilton and Michele Montau.

"Jean-Pierre Aumont's plane brings four passengers to the island of Tuila, Sinatra, Aulan and Bernie Hamilton are convicts. Kerwin Mathews is a priest to replace Tracy, a cognac-drinking missionary more feared than respected.

He has built a home and hospital for lepers and the islanders feel he has killed tourism and exposed them to disease. His faith has been withered by their inhumanity.

When the island is menaced by the volcano, Tracy parachutes with the convicts, who hope to gain a shortened term, to save the children. They succeed, but Aulan and Hamilton perish. Tracy, stranded with the latter, is joined by Sinatra to die. The four, although they die, have seen the light."

Career Of W.S. Gilbert Discussed By Group

The varied career of W. S. Gilbert will be revealed for the English Majors Organization through a lively musical, dramatic and scholarly discussion led by Dr. Dean Farnsworth of the English faculty, assisted by Miss Jennette Morrell.

Dr. Farnsworth says that his purpose is "to introduce the students to a delightful wit and satirist and to show to what extent Gilbert was the seminal influence in the collaboration (Gilbert and Sullivan)." In his work as a satirist, Gilbert attacked the military, the aristocracy, the law, the theatre, religious abuses, business, and the whole social realm of Victorian life.

Captured at the age of two by pirates, W. S. Gilbert often led a life resembling that of so his own characters. Although he was trained as a lawyer, he early forsook this profession to become a writer. He bought self paper and pencils and a composing verses and illustrated them himself.

Because he loved the stage, Gilbert haunted the local play until he was finally convinced to write his first play launching his long career dramatist. He is best known his collaboration with Sullivan producing the famous operas.

To add to the presentation will be held in the Alumni Center Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Farnsworth will give some of Gilbert's selections.

Cougar Hoopsters Eye WAC Opener With Respect For Formidable Lobos

by Bud Tolman
Universe Sports Editor

The Cougars will have all they can handle Friday evening when they start the 1964 Western Athletic Conference basketball campaign against the New Mexico Lobos.

BOTH TEAMS have played 11 contests in preseason outings this year but the Wolfpack sport a glossy 10-1 mark compared to the Cats 7-4 record, which is still a fine performance, considering the caliber of opposition they have encountered.

The Wolfpack may well have come to Cougarville with a sparkling 11-0 record had they not gone down to Washington University in a 56-50 thriller at St. Louis. They came out on the long end of the score against three highly rated squads by dumping Colorado State, Kansas and Purdue in inter-sectional duels.

ONE OF THE main reasons for their success this season is their strong rebounding ability by putting down 543 off the backboards compared to 344 for their opponents.

Definitely the Lobos have to be classed among the tops in the nation. Last year they were the fourth best team defensively in the national polls and this year they have been even better, allowing only 55.7 points per game thus far.

The Lobos average 6-4 on their starting five behind Ira Harge, Claude Williams, Mike Lucero, Skip Kruzich and Dick Ellis.

Student Tickets Are Distributed Prior To Game

Just a reminder for all students in regard to tickets for the upcoming Brigham Young cage contests against New Mexico and Wyoming on Friday and Saturday of this week.

The doors will open for students to receive tickets at 5:30 in the West Annex of the Fieldhouse. Each student must present his activity card with his picture on it before he or she can obtain a ticket.

Each student is only allowed one ticket and must enter the Fieldhouse as soon as the ticket is handed out. There will be a freshman basketball contest at 6 p.m. to provide entertainment prior to the varsity game at 8 p.m.

THE COUGARS aren't far behind the starting height of New Mexico with an average of just under 6-4. The defensive prowess of the Mountain Cats however, is not so outstanding.

Brigham Young has allowed opponents to score at the rate of 76.7 points per game due mainly to the shelling they received at the hands of UCLA, the No. 1 cage squad in the nation, in their season opener in Los Angeles. Walt Buzzard and the mighty Bruins bombed the Mountain Cats 113-71 in that contest and sent the Cats' defensive stats soaring.

THE COUGARS possess a better scoring mark than New Mexico with a 77.6 average in comparison to the Lobos 71.1 points per game mark.

Following the Friday evening encounter against the Lobos, the Cats will come right back to tackle Wyoming on the Fieldhouse floor. The Cougars will probably hold down the favorite's role in this contest with the Cowboys possessing only a 5-5 mark in preseason activity.

THE COWBOYS have some tonight neopeters however, and could prove tough in league competition. They have one of the league's top candidates for national honors in the form of Flynn Robinson and could surprise any team in the conference.

The Cowboys have been playing in fast company this year and some tough games but preseason showings indicate they could be contenders for conference honors.

Skip Kruzich is another Lobo which Cougar fans will see in the coming Brigham Young-New Mexico game.

Coach From Oklahoma ...

by Stan Hodge
Asst. Sports Editor

When hospitality and gracefulness—the cliché-type that fits BYU's newest coach to a tee.

CH TOM Hudspeth, re-named Head Football coach of the University of Tulsa, was born in Cherryville, Tenn. He was five years old when he moved to Oklahoma. He attended grade school in Afton and Tulsa, the Little Oklahoma. He lettered in football, basketball, baseball, and tennis. He was a senior at Tulsa, where he was named All-American. He was a member of an all-star team featuring Oklahoma's top players.

His game was had the prize of sharing quarterbacking with Eddie Crowder, current Tulsa coach, and played in the city of Colorado, and then Billy Vessel who went with the Helms Trophy.

He fell of 1949 Hudspeth of an athletic scholarship to the University of Tulsa, where he subsequently played football. He was named Coach J. O. "Buddy" F. FINEST year of college.

In 1950 the Cougar coach's most valuable moment as a player, the Oklahoma City "B" Tulsa Football, led by the coach scored a 77-0 victory, and scored three touchdowns and ten extra points for a 28-point contribution. In that game Tulsa managed to score 21 points in 45 seconds.

In his three years of varsity play at Tulsa he won 26 games and lost only five.

FOLLOWING a very successful 1952 season, the Tulsa eleven received a bid to the Gator Bowl. The University of Florida, behind the quarterbacking of Doug Dickey, defeated Tulsa at the University of Tennessee, and the running of Rick Cesario, now fullback for the World Champion Chicago Bears, defeated Tulsa 14-13.

After graduating from Tulsa in 1953 Hudspeth accepted a position with Norman High School, Norman, Okla., where he spent one year before being drafted into the Air Force. During that year at Norman he married a high school classmate, Mary Ann. Coach Hudspeth spent two years in the Air Force as a Radar control operator before being discharged as a 1st Lt.

FOLLOWING the service hitch he spent one year as head football coach at Tulsa Central High. He then was drafted by Bobby Dobbs, head coach University of Tulsa, as Fresh Coach. The following two years he served as offensive backfield coach and in 1960 as defensive backfield coach.

From 1961-63 he worked as the offensive-defensive backfield coach with the Calgary Stamp-ers, in the Canadian Football League, again under coach Bobby Dobbs.

WHILE coaching for the Stampers he experienced his most exciting moments. The score was the 1962 playoff for the Western Division Championship. The teams were Calgary and Winnipeg. Calgary won the first game in the best of three series 20-14. Four days later Winnipeg won the second game 19-11.

Three days after that the Stampers were leading in the final game 7-0 with three seconds remaining. Winnipeg attempted a field goal which Calgary blocked. The ball, however, reached the end zone under Canadian rules if Calgary did not get the ball out of the end zone. Winnipeg would score one point and tie the game. The Calgary safety elected to use a soccer-type kick, legal in Canadian football, to get the ball out of the end zone. The kick was intercepted in the end zone to give Winnipeg a 12-7 victory and the Western Division Championship.

COACH Hudspeth joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints three years ago in Tulsa after being greatly influenced by Charles Hansen, then a resident of Tulsa and a former University of Utah athlete.

Hudspeth has two children, Max 8 (whom he just baptized) and Phil (who will be 6 next month).

Improvement Era Index Solves 'Find-It' Problems

Have you ever spent hours thumbing through back issues of the Improvement Era, looking for an article you know is there but can't seem to find?

This extensive research is no longer necessary thanks to Newbern I. Butt, assistant professor of library and research at the Clark Library.

A COMPREHENSIVE index of all bound volumes of the Improvement Eras was recently released to the public by the Office of University Publications. The index, compiled by Mr. Butt, is arranged by names and subjects of all articles in the Era.

Previous to 1935, inadequate indexes on the Era existed, but these were not open to public use. In 1935, Mr. Butt started compiling the recently released indexes.

The newest edition, covering the period 1879 to 1935, Volumes 1-35, was reprinted in 1963 for public use. Prior to this Mr. Butt compiled an index of the Era from 1936 to 1953.

"THIS INDEX WILL be of tremendous use to all students of religion who have access to the bound volumes of the Era either at home or in the library," said Mr. Butt.

Mr. Butt has been indexing for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints since 1920 and at present has about 65 indexes published. His list of indexes included a yearly index of the Church News, Index to Early Church Publications, Index to Conference Reports, Index to the History of the Church, Comprehensive Index to the Church, Comprehensive Index to Documentary History of the Church, and Index of the Juvenile Instructor.

Physics Dept. Sets Lecture On Milky Way

"The Milky Way" will be subject of planetarium lecture presented Thursday from 8:30 p.m. in the Summer Planetarium in the Eyring Science Center.

Dr. Kimball Hansen of BYU Physics Dept. will conduct the lectures.

"The Milky Way is the star of stars to which the sun belongs and only in recent years have we begun to learn what system of stars is really what we know that there are billions of other suns in the universe similar to our own," Hansen explained.

The regular monthly lectures are sponsored by Physics Dept.

O Negative Blood Asked In Surge

Fourteen pints of O-Negative blood are needed for the heart surgery of a close friend of faculty member, Dr. Z. Eric Johnson. Anyone who wishes to donate blood should call him at Ext. 2061 or 372-0100.

Big brothers and sisters are doing great things at BYU in the eyes of little brothers and sisters. Stan Hodges, sophomore from Camppsport, Wis., is shown above as his younger sister, Rita, may visualize him at college.

The Word From Home ...

Smaller Siblings Write To Larger - With Crayons

"How are things at the Y? Say so to say so but I don't miss you yet," began a letter from twelve-year-old Jim Owens to his older sister, Paula, a freshman from Hibbs, New Mexico.

His continued interest in correspondence, however, would make one wonder whether he wanted to convince his sister or himself that she really wasn't missed.

LETTERS from younger brothers and sisters back home carry to BYU students some of the most touching sentiments, brazen honesty and most astounding news ever to come forth from pen or crayola.

Jenny Shumway, who left six younger sisters and a brother when she came to the Y this year as a freshman, has had extensive experience with these letters.

"I want to go to Provo and stay with you. I won't stay with you every day. I'm bigger than Emily because she doesn't eat as much as me. I am 5 years old. I had a birthday Saturday and I got a watch. Love 10 times Lee P.S. I helped Lee write this. He wrote his own name. Love, Ida."

When eleven-year-old Ida wrote Jenny a letter she closed, "THERE ARE usually rows of zeros on the page," said Jenny. "I don't know what happened this time."

LaNita Gubler, freshman from Orange, Calif., received a letter from her six-year old brother Donnie that shows even the youngsters of our society are using numbers for communication purposes wherever possible. That is all the letter was ... numbers. "Donnie had written numbers from 1 to 100 for the first time, and signed his name in huge letters that took up a whole page, so mom sent it to me," explained LaNita.

David Pederson, freshman from Brentwood, Calif., received a letter in which all the youngsters of the family wrote a few lines. Barbara began the letter with a full page picture of a monkey in a sleeping bag or pillow, which was very easy to distinguish after you read the explanation.

MARLA WROTE, "How are you? I am fine. We are having pictures Oct. 21. We have a little dog now. It will be one foot when it gets bigger. It hits me a lot of times but that is when she is playing. It is a girl puppy, a fieldmill dog."

Deanna, the next to add a few lines gave some insight to Marla's letter: "Hi! We have a dog. Marla spelled female wrong. They have started the new street. We have a toter ball and badmitten set. Love Deanna."

Marvin started another page saying, "I hope you would stay at college and get married so I can sleep in your bed."

Four year old Rita Hodges found that a letter to big brother Stan Hodges, sophomore from Camppsport, Wis., could be just about as effective as a letter to Santa Claus himself. After seeing some pictures of football games, Rita singled out Cosmo as the most interesting person. So arrangements have been made for Rita to meet Cosmo in person in the spring.

Science Gives Y Astronomers $17,000 Award

A $17,000 grant from the National Science Foundation has been awarded BYU astronomers. The grant was awarded to investigate the classifications of the illuminosities and colors of fainter components of eclipsing stars.

ASSOCIATE professors, Delbert H. McNamara and Dr. Kimball Hansen, and graduate students Ellis Miller and Willis Miller will work on the two-year project.

The scientists are using the 24-inch reflecting telescope, the largest in Utah, in the observatory top of the Eyring Science Center. "We're planning to more accurately determine the illuminosities and temperature of eclipsing stars to estimate the mass illuminosities of the stars more accurately," stated Dr. McNamara.
